

WHAT WE DO

Committed to creating transformative educational experiences that focus on strengthening cross-cultural understanding, the Office of International Programs at Montana State University (MSU) designs and conducts academic and career-specific training programs.

Over the past decade, our programs have served hundreds of international participants, among them students, scholars, educators, executives, and other career professionals.

Our services are available for any type of international training for organization, municipality, government, education institution, private or public business organization or contractor.
